Notes

- Roles are just named bundles of permissions — nothing is hard-coded to a role's name. A custom role can be built from the same permission list.
- Each item on a checklist below is a separate, individually-grantable permission — it is not all-or-nothing.
- A Dealer never has any of the Compliance, Documents, Notices, Returns or Secretarial permissions by default. Seeing a client's actual compliance data requires a separate, time-limited, client-approved arrangement (an "engagement").
- A Department User in an Organisation is deliberately kept out of anything financial — they see a task's title and due date, never an amount.
- Approving a filing and recording that it was filed are treated as sensitive actions and require the user to have recently re-confirmed their identity.
